Global Security Newsletter
February 20, 2024

Welcome to the Global Security Newsletter! This newsletter provides the latest physical security updates, events, recognitions, and tips from Global Security Operations. Together, we are enhancing our collective commitment to maintaining a secure and thriving workplace.

Message from Nick Simone

I am grateful for this team's unwavering professionalism and dedication to the Cruise mission, especially during these turbulent times. I believe in our team's strength and its ability to overcome challenges.

This year, we focus on foundations, adapt to a new operating tempo, and prepare for future scaling. Currently, an exciting initiative is unfolding in Q1 and beyond: developing a comprehensive Global Security Operations (GSO) program that unifies legacy GSS & GSOC under one domain. Leadership will identify synergies to streamline operations and foster cohesion between teams.

Your commitment is crucial to our success. I am confident that, together, we will navigate changes and emerge stronger and more united. Thank you all!

Badging updates

When an employee drops off a Yubikey on their final day of work, deliver it to the Assistant Account Manager for storage.

Systems updates

We are planning to disable the shared login accounts in LeneL. Anyone still having trouble connecting with their corporate credentials can directly contact Joel Johst directly or open a Jira ticket.

Training updates

Shout out to how well Security Professionals have adapted to the new Absorb training curriculum and for the awesome uptick from all sites in timely training compliance and positive feedback!

The current training topic is on severe weather and the next topic is on the upcoming changes to the reporting portal.

TableTops

This quarter's TableTop is on Emergency Response and covers HiveWatch, Medical Emergencies, and Vandalism.

Upcoming events

- CruiseMeets will have a monthly social with Food/Drinks/Games for Cruise Employees and Contingent Workers. The next social, called Cruise Intersection, is on 2/21 at the Charge at 333 Brannan from 4:30pm - 6:30pm.
